Healthy Grieving

If you are grieving the loss of a friend or family member, you are feeling many deep emotions. Here are some basic suggestions on ways to face grief from a healthy outlook. Understand that each circumstance is different, and each person will approach grief from a unique personal perspective. Even with this in mind, we think you will find the following suggestions helpful.

1. Acknowledge and understand your own grief.
2. Allow your grief to be recognized by others.
3. Feel free to grieve in your own unique way.
4. Tell your story to others (the honest account of your loss).
5. Learn life's lessons through your loss (becoming more humane, compassionate).
6. Commit to the journey, long or short, that leads back to the point where you can live with optimism & hope.
7. Share the comfort you have received with others in need.
8. Trust God and cling to Him. Bring all your questions and feelings honestly to Him.

Grief recovery is simply feeling better. It is the ability to find joy in life again. It is to treasure the memory of loved ones, to miss them and to live better because of the time in your life that you spent with them.

Grief is not an enemy or a sign of weakness. It is a sign of being human. It is the cost of loving someone. It is inevitable that during such a loss we would be deeply impacted, shocked, or wounded by it. Grief is the manner or process in which we work through the loss.

There is a goal in the grieving process. The emotions are seeking to reorganize themselves to cope with the loss and to reestablish healthy relationships.

Something to Talk About

After Jesus had died for our sins on the cross, after He had risen from the grave to secure everlasting life for His people, and before He ascended into heaven to sit at the right hand of the Father, He gave His people a mission:

“But you shall receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you; and you shall be witnesses to Me in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the end of the earth.” (Acts 1:8)

That's right, we should be talking about Jesus. We are His ambassadors in this world. (2 Cor 5:20) We represent Him. He told us that we are to be SALT in a decaying culture, and we are to be LIGHT in a world of darkness. (Matthew 5:13-16) We are to be carrying the hope and love of Jesus everywhere we go. We should be like an aroma of Christ in every place we are.

Think about all that He has done for you: left the realms of heaven, came to the earth as a man, lived here for 33 years and lived a sinless life, yet knowing that we could never be right or reconciled to God without a perfect sacrifice – laid down His spotless life and took your sin, your guilt, your shame and endured God's wrath in your place. He died that you might live.

He was placed in a borrowed tomb and on the third day He rose again - conquering death and defeating Satan and securing everlasting life for you. He sent the Holy Spirit to empower you to live for Him and give you strength for your journey. He is now preparing a place for you in glory where you will spend eternity in His glorious presence.

What a story we have! He has raised me from spiritual death and given me LIFE! I was trapped in sin, but He has set me FREE! I now have a reason to live, a purpose – for HIM! I was an outcast, now I belong to GOD.

Now, you and I have a lot we can talk about. Use your mouth and tongue for HIS glory and honor. Point people to HIM. Do not let the devil have your tongue and engage in gossip and put downs. Build one another up, encourage one another, be kind and gracious. And to a lost and dying world — tell the story of JESUS and HIS LOVE!
